Reference Materials for the General Meeting of Shareholders

Item 1 : Appropriation of Surplus

The Company regards the distribution of profit to shareholders as one of the most important management issues. Taking comprehensive account of consolidated business results, the levels of return on equity and dividend on equity ratio, as well as internal reserves for future business development and the reinforcement of corporate strength, management strives towards improving dividend levels while maintaining stable dividends. Based on this policy, year-end dividends for the 96th term are proposed as follows.

(1) Type of dividend

Cash

(2) Allocation of dividends to shareholders, and total amount

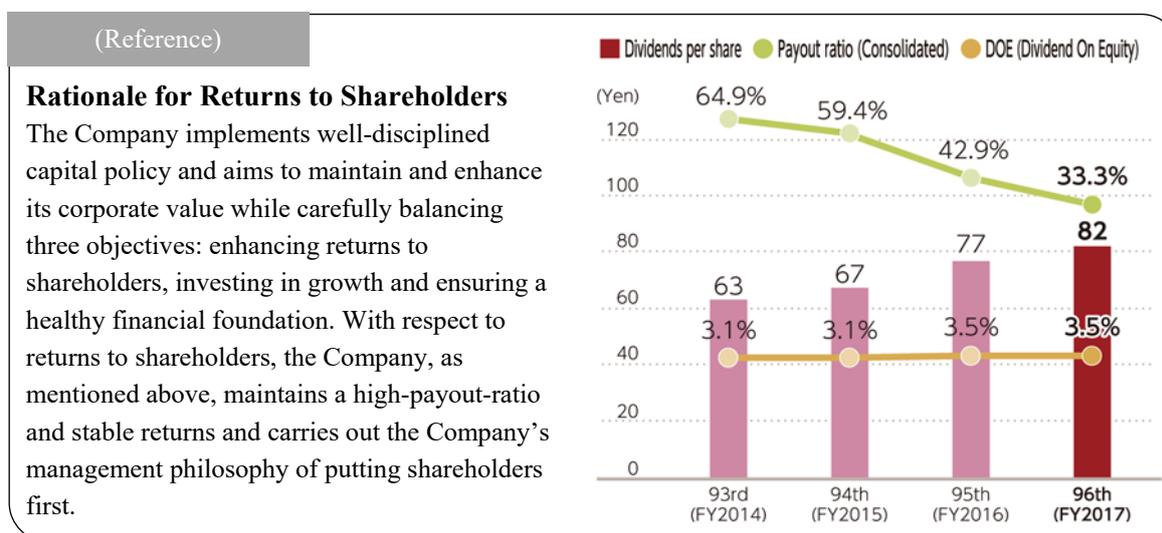

¥41 per share of Company common stock

Total amount: ¥3,014,952,958

As the interim dividend of ¥41 per share was paid in December 2017, the total dividend for full year is ¥82 per share.

(3) Effective date of payments for dividends from surplus

June 27, 2018

Item 2: Partial Amendment to the Articles of Incorporation

1) Reason for the Amendment

As the Company no longer recognizes any need to appoint counselors and advisors who report to the President on certain matters, we have decided to abolish the counselor/advisor system in order to strengthen the Company’s corporate governance. Thus, we propose to delete the provision concerning the counselor/advisor system set forth in Article 29 of the current Articles of Incorporation and renumber the subsequent articles accordingly.

The following individuals are candidates for Executive Directors. In addition, since they meet the independent requirements established by the Tokyo Stock Exchange, for the four (4) candidates for Outside Director, the Company has already reported the three (3) current Outside Directors and will report one (1) newly nominated candidate for Outside Director as Independent Directors to the Tokyo Stock Exchange.

Business Report

(From April 1, 2017 to March 31, 2018)

1. Matters Concerning the Present State of the Corporate Group

(1) Financial results for the current fiscal year

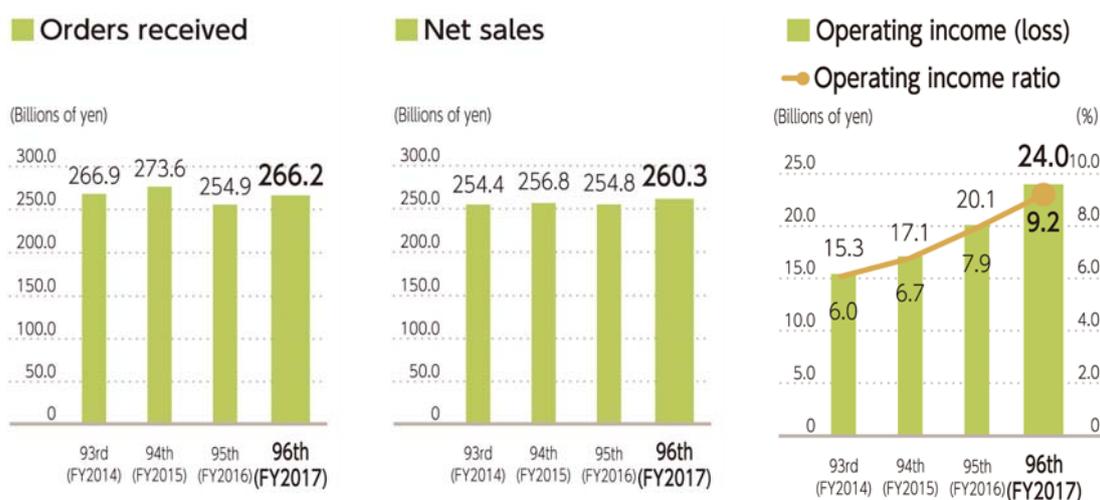

In the current consolidated fiscal year, Japan's economy continued its moderate recovery. Supported by global expansion in IT-related demand, domestic production and exports continued to improve. Capital investment too was encouraging: in addition to evidence of an upturn and growth in investment thanks to an improvement in corporate earnings in several markets, there have been signs of investment for rationalization and labor-saving in response to the current labor shortage.

Looking at overseas economies, there have been continued signs of a pickup in China's economy thanks to robust domestic and overseas demand. In Europe, despite concerns over the impact of exports weakening due to the strong euro, a gradual economic recovery is under way, and in the U.S., there continued to be a steady improvement in consumption and capital investment.

Guided by the philosophy of "human-centered automation", the azbil Group drew up its medium-term plan (FY2017–FY2019) based on the three fundamental policies^{*1} and we are currently implementing measures to realize sustainable growth. In the current consolidated fiscal year we have thus been actively engaged in those areas where sustainable growth is anticipated – providing solutions throughout the life cycle, developing new automation opportunities, and focusing on environmental and energy issues – while advancing further business structure reforms and improvements to the profit structure. Additionally, as a means of strengthening the business foundation to develop these fields and realize sustainable growth, we have been upgrading and expanding our R&D and production systems.

* 1: Three fundamental policies

- Being a long-term partner for the customer and the community by offering solutions based on our technologies and products
- Taking global operations to the next level, by expansion into new regions and a qualitative change of focus
- Being a corporate organization that never stops learning, so that it can continuously grow stronger

(Note) From the 96th term, we changed the method to show net orders received excluding special factors such as foreign exchange effects to order backlog. For the 95th term, we revised the figures for the previous fiscal term using the method following the change, but we made no changes to the 94th and prior terms.

The results for the current consolidated fiscal year are as follows.

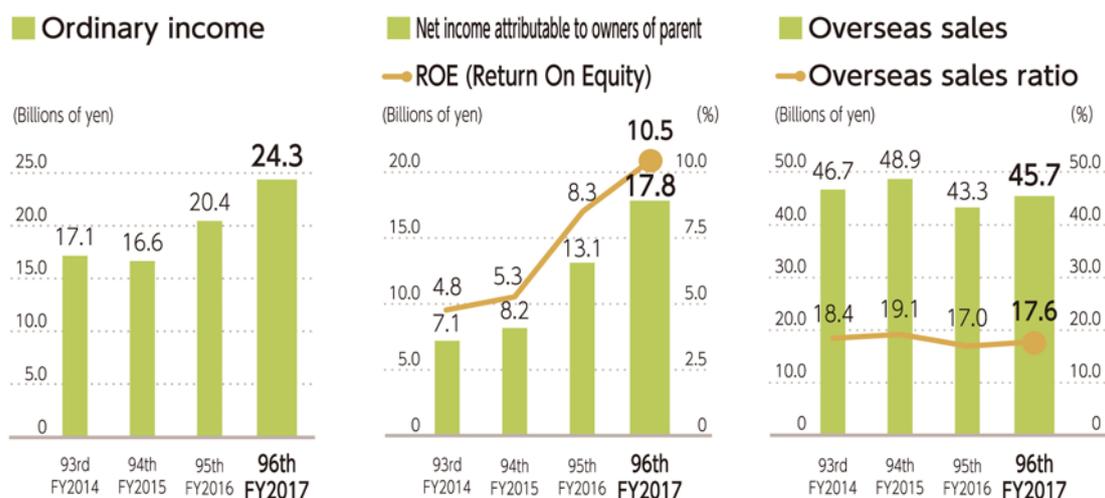

In Japan, with the brisk investment in urban redevelopment, demand has remained high for equipment and systems for large-scale buildings. Also, capital investment in production facilities has continued to be positive, both domestically and overseas. Given this business environment, we implemented measures to expand orders and, as a result, we achieved significant growth in orders received^{*2} for the Advanced Automation (AA) business and the Life Automation (LA) business. Overall orders received were 266,262 million yen, up 4.4% from 254,974 million yen recorded for the previous consolidated fiscal year. Sales grew in all segments, especially in the Building Automation (BA) business and the AA business. As a result, overall net sales were 260,384 million yen, up 2.2% from 254,810 million yen recorded for the previous consolidated fiscal year.

As regards profits, owing to further progress made with initiatives aimed at improving the profit structure that started in the previous consolidated fiscal year, operating income increased significantly to 24,026 million yen, up 19.3% from 20,145 million yen recorded for the previous consolidated fiscal year. Owing mainly to this increase in operating income, ordinary income increased to 24,316 million yen, up 18.8% from 20,475 million yen recorded for the previous consolidated fiscal year. Similarly, net income attributable to owners of parent rose to 17,890 million yen, up 36.0% from 13,153 million yen recorded for the previous consolidated fiscal year. In addition to this increase in operating income and the recording of gain on sales of investment securities, this result was partly due to decrease in loss on liquidation of subsidiaries and associates as well as reduction in tax expenses following a reappraisal of the recoverability of a subsidiary's deferred tax assets.

*2: Orders received

Previously, the amount of orders received included the translation gains and losses associated with contracts denominated in foreign currencies incorporated within the order backlog at the end of the previous consolidated fiscal year and at the end of the current consolidated fiscal year. However, from this fiscal year, the amount of orders received excluding aforesaid translation gains and losses has been posted, and the figures for the previous fiscal year to be compared have been revised.

This revision is aimed at providing investors with useful information for their investment judgement, by reporting our business performance in a manner to conform with the azbil Group's business activities in each local currency, as our overseas business strategies are increasingly implemented.

The results for the individual reportable segments are as follows.

Building Automation (BA) Business

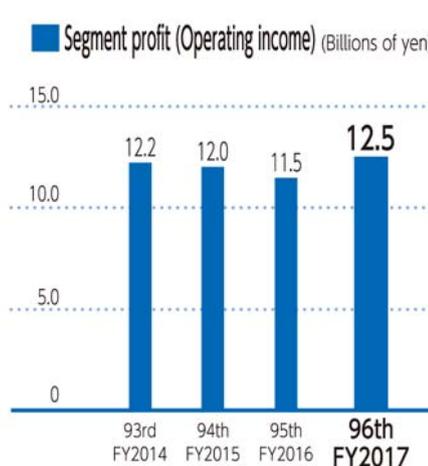

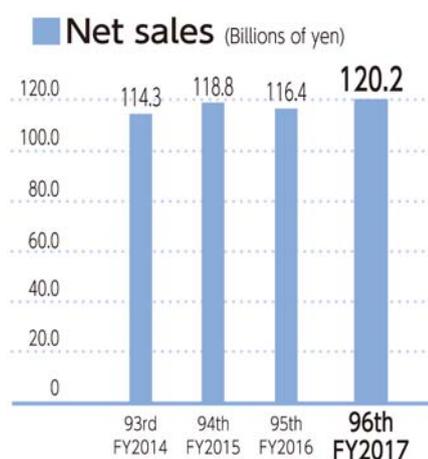

In the domestic market, in addition to urban redevelopment plans for the Tokyo metropolitan area, demand for solutions for energy saving and operational cost reduction has been high and the market environment for the BA business continued to be robust. Overseas, steady progress has been achieved in developing local markets in Asia and China.

Thanks to this business environment, orders received increased significantly for existing buildings. However, because large-scale multi-year contracts^{*3} had been recorded in the previous fiscal year, overall orders received were down. In the new construction field, progress at on-site construction was steady with efforts to reinforce structures continuing from the previous fiscal year, and this led to increased sales for new buildings. Sales for existing buildings and service also increased with the growing number of proposals for solutions based on intimate knowledge of on-site issues. Sales also grew overseas, despite the impact of transferring all shares in a subsidiary in the previous fiscal year.

Consequently, BA business sales in the current consolidated fiscal year were 120,233 million yen, up 3.3% from 116,421 million yen recorded for the previous consolidated fiscal year. Segment profit was 12,583 million yen, up 9.3% from 11,512 million yen recorded for the previous consolidated fiscal year despite an increased cost burden. An initiative to improve profits was successful while reduction in temporary expenses for provision compensated increase in expenses for putting in place improved structures and development for new products.

* 3: Large-scale multi-year contracts (“market testing”)

The total value of an order for a multi-year service project is recorded as a lump sum in the first year of the contract. In the previous fiscal year, orders received were recorded for large-scale service projects with multi-year contracts received through the system of public-private competitive tendering called “market testing”. The principal contractor decided by such market testing is then responsible for providing a variety of services related to the building in question using vendors selected for the purpose. Also, the contracts won through market testing cover periods ranging from 3 to 5 years, and thus they can significantly increase the orders received by the principal contractor, although these contracts have limited impact on profits for any individual fiscal year.

Advanced Automation (AA) Business

In Japan and overseas, expansion continued in markets related to semiconductor manufacturing equipment, and including other markets, the business environment for the AA business has continued to be generally favorable. Based on these business environment, from the previous fiscal year we have engaged in strengthening operating systems for the three AA business sub-segments (CP, IAP, & SS)^{*4} aiming to achieve global competitiveness. We have also implemented measures for realizing business growth and strengthening profitability.

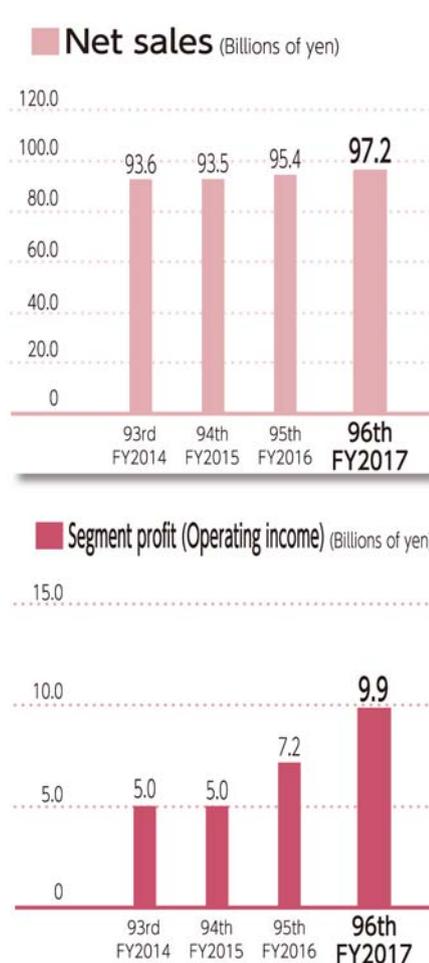

Consequently, progress has been made with developing new automation fields with new products. AA business orders received thus increased significantly. As regards sales, the domestic business continued to be relatively robust, while increasing demand overseas for controllers and sensors primarily for semiconductor manufacturing equipment also led to increased sales. AA business sales for the current consolidated fiscal year were 97,231 million yen, up 1.8% from 95,484 million yen recorded for the previous consolidated fiscal year. Thanks to the abovementioned initiatives designed to strengthen business profitability, the profit structure for each of the three sub-segments has significantly improved: segment profit was 9,931 million yen, up 37.9% from 7,204 million yen recorded for the previous consolidated fiscal year.

*4: Three AA business sub-segments (management accounting sub-segments)

CP business: Control Product business (supplying factory automation products such as controllers and sensors, etc.)

IAP business: Industrial Automation Product business (supplying process automation products such as differential pressure & pressure transmitters, and control valves, etc.)

SS business: Solution & Service business (offering control systems, engineering service, maintenance service, energy-saving solution service, etc.)

Life Automation (LA) Business

The LA business covers three fields: Lifeline (gas/water meters, etc.), Life Science Engineering (LSE: pharmaceutical/laboratory fields), and Lifestyle-related (residential central air-conditioning systems).

In the current consolidated fiscal year, there was a significant increase in LA business orders received. This was principally owing to a growth in the LSE field in which the selection and concentration of business areas was promoted in the previous fiscal year to improve profitability.

LA business sales were 44,208 million yen, up 0.2% from the previous consolidated fiscal year, when sales of 44,116 million yen were recorded. Segment profits increased mainly due to the improvement in the LSE field to 1,501 million yen, up 5.7% from 1,420 million yen recorded for the previous consolidated fiscal year.

Other

In Other business, sales of 65 million yen were recorded for the current consolidated fiscal year; in the previous consolidated fiscal year sales were 70 million yen. Segment profit was 9 million yen; in the previous consolidated fiscal year there was a segment profit of 18 million yen.

Capital investment in the current fiscal year totaled ¥7,038 million, as we invested in new product development and streamlining.

There is no important fund raising to list for the current fiscal year.

(5) Issues to be Tackled

In striving to ensure medium- to long- term business development and continuous enhancement of corporate value, the azbil Group is keen to meet the expectations of all stakeholders, not least the shareholders. We accordingly have established long-term goals for the azbil Group based on our philosophy of “human-centered automation.” To achieve these goals, we are implementing three key initiatives in our three core businesses (the BA business, the AA business, and the LA business): becoming a long-term partner for the customer and the community by offering solutions based on our technologies and products; taking global operations to the next level by regional expansion and a qualitative change of focus; and to realize these goals by being a corporate organization that never stops learning, so that it can continuously strengthen its corporate structure. In this way, we have made progress with reforms to the business structure that can lead to business expansion.

However, giving due consideration to the domestic and overseas conditions and rapid environmental changes, expanding the past business operation is not enough. To achieve further continuous growth, we accelerate structural reforms for each business, in Japan and abroad, the creation of advanced research & development/production systems for the Group, and the development of technology and products that accommodate technological innovations (e.g. IoT, big data, AI, and robotics, etc.) We are also aiming to achieve continuous growth through strengthening corporate governance in addition to allocating management resources effectively and strategically, and working to accelerate these efforts and ensure they take root.

1) All three businesses are positioned domestically in mature industries, yet there are significant differences in the environment each finds itself in. For the BA business, in order to steadily tap into the demand that is growing with the urban redevelopment plans of the Tokyo metropolitan area, we have further strengthened capabilities that enable to complete the projects with appropriate working hours by efficiently and systematically allocating human resources, creating a structure that includes continuously transferring human resources and innovating the forms of education and operations, and pushing ahead with comprehensive work style reforms. In addition, we have introduced the next generation building automation system “savic-net G5”, which further accelerates openness, increases connectivity with existing systems, and dramatically increases job efficiency. As a result, we will provide continuous value matching the business development stage of our customers. By combining the system with cloud services for advanced buildings, we will also propose new facility management and corporate management support.

The AA business will promote growth by selecting and concentrating on business fields that can be expected to grow and offer added value in the future from a wide variety of different markets. Additionally, we will continue our implementing reforms aimed at achieving a highly profitable business structure by developing unique business models closely matching to customer needs and the market environments. One such initiative is our development of control solutions for liquid chemical addition utilizing the new product “F7M”, the micro flow rate liquid flow meter, which has been launched to semiconductor manufacturing equipment. It enables extremely small liquid flow measurements of no more than 30mL/min, which was hitherto extremely difficult.

In the LA business, we have been promoting IoT support for water meters and various types of gas meters. In the LP gas market, we introduced “K-SM α ”, a new type of LP gas meter that can respond flexibly to a range of communications, initiated a verification business, which includes meter reading via IoT utilizing new “LPWA*¹” technology and rationalized delivery using big data etc., and advanced preparations to expand into new business fields.

We will continue optimizing the allocation of resources within the azbil Group to match changes in the business environment, introducing new personnel and training systems based on the concept of a corporate organization that never stops learning in order to promptly implement changes in business processes and operational structures with the aim of creating firm business opportunities in mature fields at the same time as expanding further into new business fields through the introduction of new products and technologies.

*1 LPWA: Low Power Wide Area (It is wireless communication technology which enables long-distance communication with far lower power than before and is expected to be utilized in IoT.)

2) In overseas markets, as one approach to further strengthen the business foundation so as to support business growth and earnings expansion, we will continuously strengthen new specialty products and solutions with high value added that respond to the market environment in each country and region with the aim of expanding the business globally. In particular, we have opened the Strategic Planning & Development Office for Southeast Asia in Singapore with the aim of further business growth in the region by supporting and unifying the management of the business in Southeast Asia, where cross-border business is expanding. Going forward, the office will take a regionwide role in promoting business, creating strategic plans, and managing business in the area. As to development of each business in overseas, in the BA business, with the aim of boosting our share in the Asian market, we will seek to strengthen our proposals for specific segments and large-scale projects in the commercial building market through the introduction of the next-generation building automation system “savic-net G5” released last year and the latest Japanese energy saving technology, in addition to reinforcing the life cycle business. In the AA business, as in Japan, we will accelerate its growth through exploitation and deep cultivation of strong automation area. Specifically, in addition to strengthening our sales capabilities, we will expand solutions focused on competitive products, working for further growth by incorporating services throughout the life cycle, such as diagnosis of customer facilities with utilization of IoT. In the LA business, we have conducted the reform of business structure in Europe-based Azbil Telstar, S.L.U., which is in charge of the Life Science Engineering field and have continued to improve profitability by enhancing project management systems and other means. Going forward, we will formulate a new growth strategy and work to realize it in an early stage. In addition to the aforementioned initiatives, in the area of business management at the azbil Group’s overseas subsidiaries, we will continue to develop robust systems at each company and promote the strengthening of our governance within the Group.

3) For azbil Group business expansion, we will reorganize the Group’s production structure and concentrate and strengthen its research & development resources to enhance product values. In Japan, we have been consolidating the production functions in Kanagawa Prefecture into the Shonan Factory, building and reorganizing it as the mother factory of the azbil Group to lead global business development. In addition, along with further boosting production capacity at our factory in Thailand and factory in Dalian, China and expanding overseas procurement of parts and materials, we will make our products even more cost competitive in addition to optimizing global customer support and global logistics. In our research & development activities, we will continue to invest in research and development of products and services that keep up with technical innovation (IoT, big data, and AI, etc.) in order to expand our business into the industrial structural reform by the fusion of goods and information. Also, we will cultivate new fields of automation related to business processes that are closer to corporate management in the operation of customers' plants and buildings, etc. Moreover, by leveraging our proprietary measurement and control technology, we developed next-generation smart robots equipped with force sensing*² and vision functions to achieve the gripping action for soft objects such as tofu and safety functions such as instantaneous stopping which have been problematic with conventional robots. In this way, we will explore their use in the new field of human-robot collaboration in which humans and robots coexist.

*² force sensing: the sense of resistance received from the object when an object is touched

4) We will promote Group management and enhancement of corporate governance systems. At the same time, the entire azbil Group continues to be engaged in promotion of CSR management in a number of priority initiatives focusing on risk management (quality, product liability, disaster prevention, BCP and information security), compliance (corporate ethics and legal conformity), human-centric management, contributing to the global environment and the society. In particular, we are working to comply with Japan's Corporate Governance Code in order to enhance the integrity, neutrality and transparency of management. And we are actively progressing with measures to ensure a constructive dialog with all of our stakeholders so as to facilitate sustained growth and enhancement of corporate value over the medium- to long- term. The azbil Group has continued its initiatives to contribute to sustainable development of the society, and in fiscal year 2017, azbil Corporation was selected for the reference in the three ESG (environment, society, governance) indexes*³ which are adopted by the Government Pension Investment Fund (GPIF). The azbil Group also has a Group philosophy of "human-centered automation", established through developing the aspirations of our founder. We will continue to strive for SDGs (the Sustainable Development Goals) set out by the United Nations through promoting management which is based on this philosophy.
